

State Energy Bill Fizzles

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An 11th hour effort to put together a major energy program fizzled late Friday night in the wake of a running feud between two powerful, determined Democratic leaders.

House Democrats passed a hastily-assembled energy proposal 87-1 in record time, but the Senate adjourned minutes afterward without acting on the legislation.

Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, said members would return next week "to work on an energy bill." The General Assembly had been scheduled to adjourn Friday until Sept. 10.

"I've always said that poor legislation can be enacted if we do it early in the morning," Ocasek said, noting the late hour.

House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, made little effort to hide his annoyance over the energy failure and the sudden departure of the upper chamber.

"If the Senate would pass the energy bill which we sent over there—and we hope that they would pass it—we could be back," he said before gaveling for adjournment.

A compromise on energy among majority Democrats and the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes developed earlier in the week and emerged Friday morning in the form of a heavily-amended, already-existing bill.

The rewritten bill would create a state energy agency with five board members appointed by Rhodes and four nonvoting legislative members. The make-up of the board was a major factor in the governor's veto of another Democratic energy plan. The Senate overrode the veto last week, but the House—lacking a three-fifths Democratic majority—failed Friday 56-30.

Essential to the new legislation was a provision granting a tax abatement incentive for a demonstration federal coal conversion plant which Rhodes wants very much to bring to Ohio.

Thomas Moyer, the governor's executive assistant, said the failure of the Senate to move the bill had "substantially reduced" Ohio's chances of attracting the gasification plant.

"They (the Senate) just don't seem to be able to react to situations that demand quick action," he said. "There's no reason why they couldn't have done it (passed the legislation)."

Ocasek and Riffe had quarreled earlier in the week over the tax rate that school districts should pay to qualify for the new equal yield school formula.

"You can write that the Senate yielded on charge-off (millage) Ocasek told newsmen of the compromise which culminated Friday after weeks of debate on the equal yield plan. The bill was sent to the governor with a 20 mill qualifying level, as provided by the House version.

But Ocasek would not yield on the last minute energy bill, refusing to move it out of committee, because, he said the Senate didn't "agree that a bill of this magnitude should be put together in a hurry."

Rep. Thomas Carney, D-71 Boardman, an architect of the compromise, went ahead and introduced an identical bill in the House.

It was voted out of committee 13-0 in 12 minutes flat and approved by the full House membership within hours after its introduction. But the Senators went home.

Probate Law Enacted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A revision in Ohio's probate court procedures is in the works if Gov. James A. Rhodes affixes his signature to a bill enacted Friday by the Senate and House.

The chief sponsor, Sen. David L. Headley, D-28 Barberton, said the "long overdue" reforms are directed primarily at the handling of married Ohioans' estates to assure that their surviving spouses get the bulk of them.

Under present law, the spouse gets half of the estate if the deceased has no will, with the remainder divided among surviving children.

The final version of Headley's bill, worked out by a Senate-House conference committee, provides that the surviving spouse takes the first $30,000 in any case, before the residue is divided.

Left unchanged by the conference committee was a House amendment that raised from $10,000 to $15,000 the size of an estate that may be handled without administration. The bill raises certain fees charged by probate courts, the first increase since 1956, Headley said.

Weather

Partly cloudy today and Sunday with a chance of thundershowers, more likely in the evening, high today near 90. Low tonight, low 70s. High Sunday, upper 80s. Probability of precipitation, 50 per cent today, 60 per cent tonight and 70 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Friday were: high, 94; low, 69.

Midway Chatter

Pumpkin pie crust without water would be a little crumbly, we have been told. But the recipe Karen Drummond used to make her grand champion pumpkin pie in the Baking with Lard contest didn't list any liquid. Could be she figures people will just naturally add it.

However, the mystery of the missing milk and egg whites in Mrs. Marion Jones' grand champion Yellow Lard Cake has been solved. After you add the sifted dry ingredients, ¾ cup milk, and vanilla, beat for one minute at medium speed and scrape the sides and bottom of the bowl constantly, you should add the remaining milk and egg yolks. Then beat for another minute with constant scraping and fold in the egg whites.

Paul Dean, president of the Pickaway County Fair Board, and all the members of the board, are to be congratulated on an outstanding Pickaway County Fair.

In terms of attractions of interest to everyone and in terms of attendance, it had to be one of the best.

There was a standing room only crowd for the demolition derby at the grandstands last night. But the crowd during the heat of the day Friday afternoon was pretty sparse. By that time, most of the junior fair and open competition had all been completed.

The two champions sold for record high prices at the Pickaway County Junior Fair Hog and Lamb Sale Friday, the final big event of the fair for 4-H and FFA members.

The hog, owned by Jeff Wippell, brought $4 a pound, weighed 205 pounds and brought a total of $820. The lamb, owned by Sheri Somers, was purchased for $5.35 a pound and brought a total of $561.75.

Ward's Cardinal Market of Circleville purchased both animals.

The reserve champion hog, owned by Jim Winter, was auctioned to Gaib Equipment Co. who paid $3 a pound. It weighed 220 pounds, returning $660 to its young owner.

The reserve champion Lamb was purchased jointly by Cox's Drive In and Cox's Concessions for $3.25 a pound. It weighed 110 pounds and made its owner, David Schiff, $375.50 richer.

There were 232 hogs in the auction with sales totaling $37,336.08. The average price of single hogs was $112.07 per hundredweight, the average price paid for swine selling in groups was $59.14.

Individual buyers purchasing the most animals were Producers Livestock with 65 head, Citizens Bank of Ashville purchasing 54 head, Heinhold Market, 26 and Bussert Livestock and Trucking, 22.

There were 106 lambs in the sale bringing a total of $8,994.16. The average price of single lambs was $149.09 per hundredweight for hogs selling singly and $44.34 for those selling in groups.

Citizen's Bank of Ashville bought a total of 50 sheep and Russell Waidelich 12. They were buyers making the largest number of purchases.

Last year the champion market hog was sold for $3.02 a pound and the champion lamb for $5 a pound.

Economic News Surprises Experts

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's economy may be proving once again that its ups and downs defy predictions by most economists, both in and out of government.

The latest statistic to go in a different direction from what was widely predicted was the unemployment rate, which fell in July to 8.4 per cent, even though nearly all government economists thought it would increase to nearly 9 per cent.

The difference between an 8.4 per cent rate and a 9 per cent rate is about 600,000 jobs, a big number by any count. The jobless rate in June was 8.6 per cent.

"I was surprised. Quite frankly, I thought it could be up around 9 per cent," said James L. Pate, assistant commerce secretary for economic affairs. He said it might be a sign the economy is improving faster than expected.

Dr. Julius Shishkin, commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, who had forecast an unemployment rate close to 8.9 per cent, said the July jobless rate appears to be "a very reasonable and sound figure."

The auto industry showed especially strong employment gains in July, with the jobless rate in the auto industry declining to 10.1 per cent from June's rate of 17.9 per cent.

Those gains were partially offset by an increase in unemployment in the primary metals industries, including steel, which rose to 15.1 per cent from June's 10.9 per cent.

In all, employment increased by 630,000 in July to a total of 85.1 million, while unemployment decreased by 400,000 to 7.8 million. The labor force — those working or seeking work — rose to 92.9 million.

But Shishkin said he wanted to see unemployment statistics for a few more months before concluding that the economy is definitely recovering. Unemployment isn't the only index that has crossed up the economists in recent weeks.

Before the Consumer Price Index for June was released in late July, most economists were predicting an inflation rate similar to the May increase of four-tenths of one per cent. Instead, consumer prices increased eight-tenths of one per cent, nearly back to the frightening annual double-digit levels of 1974.

The missed predictions brought to mind the events of last year, when the new Ford Administration concluded after an economic summit conference that inflation was the nation's major economic enemy, and called for a special tax increase to cool down the economy.

Almost immediately, the economy began sinking into the deepest recession since the depression of the 1930s, and the administration soon shifted gears from a tax increase to a tax decrease.

A third area where the economic forecasters have been wrong this year is in the nation's foreign trade. The Commerce Department on Friday said the nation now may have a surplus in its trade with other nations of between $4 billion and $6 billion, which contrasts with its prediction earlier in the year that the nation's trade might be in deficit by as much as $2 billion.

Piggy Banks Stolen

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Whoever has started stealing piggy banks in the Cincinnati area has netted himself a couple of prize porkers in the past week.

The latest sow snatching occurred Friday, when Mrs. May Eisert, 82, reported the theft of her one-foot-by-one-foot goldplated piggy bank, stuffed with about $1000, to Cincinnati Police.

Mrs. Eisert said a thief apparently climbed a 25-foot ladder left by painters sometime during the week and entered her house through an unlocked window.

"I don't know how much the piggy bank was worth because a friend gave it to me as a gift," she said.

The theft followed a bigger hog heist Sunday, when a three-foot-high piggy bank containing $1000 in pennies was reported taken in a burglary in nearby Evanston.

Police have no suspects.

Congress Rapped By Sen. Taft

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Robert Taft Jr., R-Ohio, has attacked Congress on two fronts — for inaction on crude oil prices and failure to take responsibility for their own pay raises.

Taft said while Congress haggles over possible decontrol of crude oil prices, the current controls may expire and prices could jump from $5.35 a barrel to as much as $11 or $12.

Taft also pressed his colleagues to change the system by which they can avoid voting on pay raises for themselves. A commission now recommends increases for federal employees, including congressmen, unless Congress moves to stop them.

Rhodes Puts On Blitz For Ballot

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Gov. James A. Rhodes picked July as the month of the blitz in his campaign to put his fourpart economic package on Ohio's November election ballot.

Materials were prepared and were available for the asking not only at the newly organized Ohioans for Jobs and Progress headquarters in Columbus, but in the governor's office itself.

Rhodes needs the signatures of 307,000 voters by Aug. 7 to qualify his four proposed constitutional amendments for the ballot. They were sidetracked last spring in the Democratcontrolled legislature.

Rhodes administration officials continued to let rhetorical darts of Democrats bounce off without reply. The Democrats watched to see how far the governor would go in the use of state facilities and state employees in what they called a partisan campaign.

Richard D. Jackson, state transportation director, confirmed to a Democratic committee that his employees were being asked to circulate petitions on their own time. But, he also said the campaign materials are being distributed to regional offices around the state in state cars and on state time.

Jackson defended the effort as "a proper function of the department, to try to improve economic conditions of the state."

Some Statehouse veterans recalled a similar campaign in 1972 when former Gov. John J. Gilligan's cabinet members helped lead a successful effort against repeal of the state income tax.

Rep. John Galbraith, R-69 Maumee, expected a close vote on a move to reconsider the favorable passage of his bill to abolish common law marriages.

Majority Democrats reportedly were ready to call the bill back and reject it because of uncertainty over legal implications.

The motion to reconsider had been made when the measure originally passed the House last month. But, when the bill was called to a vote last week, reconsideration was refused by a whopping 84-12 vote.

Galbraith shook his head and smiled. What happened?

What happened was that majority floor leaders got their signals crossed and told representatives in the 59-member Democratic delegation to vote no on the bill. Trouble was the balloting wasn't on the bill itself, but merely on whether it should be reconsidered.

By voting no, reconsideration was turned down and the measure sailed on to the Senate.

Is someone having fun with Senate Bill 321, a proposal by Sen. Oakley Collins, R-17 Ironton, to permit parimutuel betting on frog races?

News media received a publicity handout the other day ostensibly from an organization called "Worldwide Fairplay for Frogs Committee." The handout listed the committee as being located in Lyndonville, Vt., with a chairman named Nestle J. Frobish and a cable address of FROGFRIEND.

"It is high time that frog racing was elevated to the lofty status of horse racing," the handout quoted Frobish. "We hope that a lively and profitable frog racing industry develops in Ohio, in accordance with the customary standards of humane treatment for the participants."

The handout went on: "Frobish said he was mildly amused by a part of the bill which prohibits the entering of a toad in a frog race. 'Nobody who knows anything about frogs would even consider entering a lead-footed toad in a frog race, because when it comes to speed, toads just don't have it, compared to frogs.' Frobish conceded that toads were necessarily faster than many insects, however. Frobish also vowed that Senator Collins would have the support of frog lovers should he decide to seek higher office."

An assiduous hunt in Vermont failed to turn up either Frobish or his organization.

EMBROIDERY—Gunni Eshelman, 450 N. Pickaway St., was named grand champion in the embroidery class at the Pickaway County Fair.

A Page Of Opinion

Join The Crowd, Baboons

Medical researchers have found that baboons trained to smoke cigarettes get angry if their daily dose of nicotine is late. Obviously, baboons have much in common with humans.

Although the research is targeted on arteriosclerosis effects caused by cigarettes, the baboons are apparently showing the classic human symptoms.

Since abstainers consider smokers to be baboons of a sort anyway, addicts of the weed should welcome their new companions with open arms.

However, the baboons are going humans one better. According to the doctors, "if you give a baboon a lit cigarette, he knocks off the ash and eats it." This could open up a whole new world for the tobacco companies.

If researchers think the baboons rattle their cages when their cigarettes are late, they should see a confirmed smoker who has run out of the "coffin nails" when there is no store open to purchase more. The weeping, wailing gnashing of teeth is pitiful to behold.

Interestingly enough, baboons have also been used to test the effects of alcohol on the body. A merger appears due.

One can almost visualize the future, where baboons and humans will get together in smoke-filled taverns and solve the problems of the world, slopping drinks on the table and brushing ashes from their shirts, or furs, as the case may be.

One salient fact emerges. The world is not going to the dogs. It's going to the baboons.

A Quizzical Look

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — A hospital which recently offered me bed and board (cq) has forwarded a form questionnaire asking how went the experience. There are two stumbling blocks at the beginning of the quiz: 1) I must print my name, not use the flowing Spencerian which was deemed eminently legible when I sprung myself from the bars of the cashier's cage, and 2) Am I a Mr., Mrs., or Miss? One might suppose that the answer to that would have been leaked during the incarceration.

"Were you kept informed about special procedures (X-ray, blood tests, etc.)?" You are given a choice here of marking one of three blocks with an "X" — Always, Usually and Never. It would never occur to me to vote "never" on anything. It is one of the cruelest words ever concocted. It is a condition that disdains a Purgatory, a time off for good behavior.

Still, I thought of one dear old night nurse who had a curious way of keeping me informed. She would enter at 6 a.m. while I was snoozing after a bad night, rouse me noiselessly by shining her flashlight in my eyes, and sweetly impart the news that I had three more hours to sleep.

ners. Mercifully, he may have been blown out a window like a hollow reed during the latest housekeeping foray. (Excellent.)

"Was you admission to the hospital Prompt, Slow, or Verv Slow?" Prompt in two of the three hospitals that have been kind enough to make room for me this past month, including the one whose questionnaire is used above. But the third, like so many others in these hard days, felt it necessary to settle a lot of urgent matters right there in the emergency room. The din was terrific. I was in the pediatric emergency area.

Did I wear contact lenses? That seemed to rate right up there with my name, rank, serial number, religion, and how did I hear about this place? No turned out to be an evasive answer to the question of contact lenses. Three other nurses, each equipped with the same chart-board and check-list tried to break down that shallow claim. I stuck by my story but somehow was spared a lie detector test. Lots of other queries of course, in triplicate, about such things as allergies, marital status, a briefing on how much it costs to get busted up these days, and "Say 'Ah!'" Finally, a doctor stopped by and cheerfully boomed, "What brings you here?" I told him I had hit a mountain during a balloon race. I would have continued at some length, as I later did to an agent of the Federal Aviation Agency. But the doctor cut me off, and left. I never saw him again.

I like doctors. I wish doctors liked doctors. I've concluded that the best way to cause a doctor to freeze is to boost or even mention the work of another doctor. "What?" one exclaimed when I senselessly babbled that one of his peers had taken me off orinase, a diabetic stand-off, "just because he read that the Federal Drug Administration questions it? Nonsense! Nurse, give him four a day." Another time I said to a treasured man of medicine, "Good news! Dr. Zilch wants me to walk around the hallways for exercise." I couldn't have hurt him more than I had uncoiled the snake on his Hippocratic Oath's logo. "That's preposterous," he said. "Stay in bed."

A final question, "What did you like least about your care at the hospital?" That's easy: listening to visitors tell me how much worse off they were, when they had their trouble. That hurts a man's sullen pride in his own precious wounds.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Judging by the reaction, that shocking jump in the consumer goods inflation rate to 9.6 per cent in June isn't being treated as a mere fluke. Fears are mounting.

Continued price increases could cause other serious economic disruptions, the most serious of them being to undermine chances of a recovery. Almost certainly they would produce political consequences.

Even members of the Ford administration concede that its policies might add to the inflation problem, which was considered all but licked just a few short weeks ago.

Albert Rees, director of the Council on Wage-Price Stability fears that Soviet grain purchases and a decontrol of oil prices could be contributants to inflation. But these, he said, aren't the only concerns.

Testifying before the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, he said that prices of finished industrial products haven't declined, as they had been expected to, "and the yare beginning to rise very early in the recovery."

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, fears that a continuation of rising prices could actually plunge the economy into a deeper recession in the near future.

Meeting in Chicago this week, the executive council of the labor federation said a tight money policy by the Federal Reserve, grain sales to the Soviet Union and the Ford administration's oil pricing policy constituted economic threats.

Arthur F. Burns, the Federal Reserve Board chairman, told the Joint Economic Committee that he too is worried that sales of U.S. grain to the Soviets will force up food prices.

As if to underscore these fears, General Mills and International Multifoods said Wednesday they were increasing flour prices to supermarkets by 1.6 cents a pound, or about 10 per cent.

While there is some economic justification for higher grain prices, mainly because of the increased demand, some economists are puzzled over the persistence of high prices for manufactured goods in the absence of demand.

Why, they ask, should prices remain high when the nation's manufacturing capacity is being utilized at a rate of less than 70 per cent and the likelihood of continued slack even if a robust economic recovery develops?

Economists of the First National City Bank are speculating on the possibility of retaliations against the government's big vendors by a frustrated Ford administration.

Their speculation doesn't stop with that. Jawboning against price increases is likely to become more commonplace, the First City economists feel. And antitrust action is a distinct possibility, they say.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

People with circulatory problems, diabetes, arteriosclerosis and other chronic diseases must pay special attention to the care and hygiene of the feet.

Those who try to perform "minor surgery" on their corns and callouses are dealing with a potentially hazardous situation.

The ideal way to treat such problems is, of course, to use the talents of the professionals, like the podiatrist and the chiropodist.

Today, these specialists are valuable additions to the health team.

They often work directly under the supervision of physicians when there are special medical problems that involve the feet.

A visit to the podiatrist or the chiropodist at regular intervals can prevent infections and their complications.

It is a misconception to believe that only top management personnel live in a world of stress and therefore, are more likely candidates for ulcer and heart disease.

Stress cannot be measured by the external circumstances that surround people. Inner emotional tensions become the measure of their anxiety regardless of what their position is in the business world.

Catarrah, biliousness, acid indigestion, thin blood and dyspepsia are still medical myths.

From the doctor's point of view, these phrases represent vague descriptions of indefinite symptoms.

There is a temptation for patients to use these terms as a substitute for seeking the advice of their doctors. Television commercials bombard us with such terms that lead to a homemade diagnosis.

Declaration Of Independence To Remain In Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — A preliminary Library of Congress study on the proposed transfer of the Declaration of Independence from Washington to Philadelphia for the Bicentennial concludes that the transfer is feasible but risky.

The Library recommends that the document remain on display in the National Archives.

Sen. Hugh Scott, R-Pa., requested the study on the possibility of moving the 199-year-old document to Philadelphia next summer. The original document was signed in Philadelphia July 4, 1776.

The study cites the difficulties in maintaining security and in protecting the Declaration from damage by light and air. Scott introduced legislation Thursday commissioning the General Services Administration to make its own feasibility study on temporarily moving the document to Philadelphia.

The Library study noted that special security arrangements would be necessary in such a move because of a "risk of theft for ransom or destruction by fire or bombing by a terrorist organization."

The study also said that the First Bank of the United States building, the proposed display site in Philadelphia was not constructed to protect such documents as the Archives building was.

The Declaration is stored in a helium-filled thermopane glass container which protects it from deterioration from ultraviolet light and reaction of the parchment and its link to air. It is mounted on a display with the Constitution. They can be lowered rapidly into a 50 ton, fire and bomb-proof safe. The study said a similar safe would be needed in Philadelphia.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR'S NOTE: While The Herald encourages open comments from its readers, the opinions expressed are not necessarily those of the management. Letters to the editor must be signed and should be of 300 words or less.

Dear Editor:

Since my letter of July 19 in regard to Berger Hospital, and the excellent staff of employees there, I cannot begin to tell about all the telephone calls, notes and personal comments I have received.

It really makes me feel good inside to realize I was able to take the stand and tell the people in this city how great it is to have our own little hospital. I might say that when I worked there 29 years ago it was smaller. There were only two RNs and three aids on the 11-7 shift. The RN was Marjorie Rhoades who is still working there as the head obstetrical nurse.

The other one was Miss Kathryn Leist who helped to teach me everything I ever knew about nursing. At that time, we were allowed to give shots. Mrs. Figgatt and I were aides. I'm ashamed I cannot think of the other one.

I was born and reared a Presbyterian, spent the summers from the age of eight at the Methodist Campground in Lancaster and when Tuffy and I were married because of his regular attendance at church, I became a Lutheran.

While in the hospital, Pastor Roy Heimbach came any number of times to visit me during the absence of Pastor Carl C. Zehner. In my book these two pastors are something else.

We went to early service at the Lutheran Church and then attended the 10:30 service at Jefferson CCU. We were not in this church very long until Pastor Heimbach asked how many had read the letter to the editor of the night before. Many hands went up. He said they were honored to have us there in the congregation. It put the icing on the cake, so to speak, from the wonderful experience I had while in the hospital.

Keep the Faith and May God Bless us all.

Grain Sales Help Spur Price Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The recent grain sales to the Soviet Union helped spur a 3 per cent increase in the prices that U.S. farmers received for their raw products in the month ended July 15, Agriculture Department figures indicate.

The department released its price report Thursday shortly after Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz told reporters in Williamsburg, Va., that to blame the Russian purchases for higher consumer food prices was "intellectually naive or dishonest."

The report said higher prices for wheat, hogs, potatoes, soybeans, upland cotton and milk accounted for most of the increase, while cattle prices were lower, compared with the previous month.

The over-all prices were 6 per cent higher than in mid-July 1974, but farm expenses were 11 per cent higher from a year earlier.

While the report did not mention the Soviet grain sales, which in July involved 154 million bushels of wheat, 177 million of corn and 51 million of barley, it showed that farm prices for all of those grains rose during the June 15-July 15 period.

Wheat was worth an average $3.33 a bushel on the farm as of July 15, up from $2.92 a month earlier. Corn rose to $2.72 a bushel, up 4 cents from June 15, and barley climbed by 5 cents to $2.35 a bushel.

A Page Of Opinion

Join The Crowd, Baboons

Medical researchers have found that baboons trained to smoke cigarettes get angry if their daily dose of nicotine is late. Obviously, baboons have much in common with humans.

Although the research is targeted on arteriosclerosis effects caused by cigarettes, the baboons are apparently showing the classic human symptoms.

Since abstainers consider smokers to be baboons of a sort anyway, addicts of the weed should welcome their new companions with open arms.

However, the baboons are going humans one better. According to the doctors, "if you give a baboon a lit cigarette, he knocks off the ash and eats it." This could open up a whole new world for the tobacco companies.

If researchers think the baboons rattle their cages when their cigarettes are late, they should see a confirmed smoker who has run out of the "coffin nails" when there is no store open to purchase more. The weeping, wailing gnashing of teeth is pitiful to behind.

Interestingly enough, baboons have also been used to test the effects of alcohol on the body. A merger appears due.

One can almost visualize the future, where baboons and humans will get together in smoke-filled taverns and solve the problems of the world, slopping drinks on the table and brushing ashes from their shirts, or furs, as the case may be.

One salient fact emerges. The world is not going to the dogs. It's going to the baboons.

A Quizzical Look

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — A hospital which recently offered me bed and board (cq) has forwarded a form questionnaire asking how went the experience. There are two stumbling blocks at the beginning of the quiz: 1) I must print my name, not use the flowing Spencerian which was deemed eminently legible when I sprung myself from the bars of the cashier's cage, and 2) Am I a Mr., Mrs., or Miss? One might suppose that the answer to that would have been leaked during the incarceration.

"Were you kept informed about special procedures (X-ray, blood tests, etc.)?" You are given a choice here of marking one of three blocks with an "X" — Always, Usually and Never. It would never occur to me to vote "never" on anything. It is one of the cruelest words ever concocted. It is a condition that disdains a Purgatory, a time off for good behavior.

Still, I thought of one dear old night nurse who had a curious way of keeping me informed. She would enter at 6 a.m. while I was snoozing after a bad night, rouse me noiselessly by shining her flashlight in my eyes, and sweetly impart the news that I had three more hours to sleep.

As for other forms of information, some of the best-kept secrets in this otherwise gossipy world are militantly guarded by nurses. Your temperature, for example. The average nurse would willingly submit without a whimper to an Inquisitional rack or be consumed in a witch's pyre rather than answer a question such as, "How's the old temperature, sweetheart?" As for revealing anything about the endless blood-pressure pump-ups, well, you learn not to ask — even though it's your blood, not Dr. Spock's.

Another searching inquiry: "Were your hospital meals Excellent, Good, or Poor?"

Well, yes or no. I bordered on Excellent whenever I was served the wrong meal. That became an event to look forward to. What a thrill it is to be all set to lift the heat-retaining cover off your expected banquet of stewed ferns, moose brains en brochette and bombe rhubarb only to discover that the guy who brought the tray had trouble reading and gave you, by mistake, a bowl of invigorating beef broth, several slabs of roast beef, a flaky baked potato, rye toast, butter, salt, pepper, fresh fruit and a hot urn of fragrant coffee.

I'd be on my second cup of the latter and watching all the shootings, fires, natural calamities and listening to a good cheerful message from President Ford before I'd experience the first twinge of conscience over wolfing somebody else's dinner. Sometimes I wonder if my unknown benefactor is still there, wasting away on my dinners. Mercifully, he may have been blown out a window like a hollow reed during the latest housekeeping foray. (Excellent.)

"Was your admission to the hospital Prompt, Slow, or Very Slow?" Prompt in two of the three hospitals that have been kind enough to make room for me this past month, including the one whose questionnaire is used above. But the third, like so many others in these hard days, felt it necessary to settle a lot of urgent matters right there in the emergency room. The din was terrific. I was in the pediatric emergency area.

Did I wear contact lenses? That seemed to rate right up there with my name, rank, serial number, religion, and how did I hear about this place? No turned out to be an evasive answer to the question of contact lenses. Three other nurses, each equipped with the same chart-board and check-list tried to break down that shallow claim. I stuck by my story but somehow was spared a lie detector test. Lots of other queries of course, in triplicate, about such things as allergies, marital status, a briefing on how much it costs to get busted up these days, and "Say 'Ah!'" Finally, a doctor stopped by and cheerfully boomed, "What brings you here?" I told him I had hit a mountain during a balloon race. I would have continued at some length, as I later did to an agent of the Federal Aviation Agency. But the doctor cut me off, and left. I never saw him again.

I like doctors. I wish doctors liked doctors. I've concluded that the best way to cause a doctor to freeze is to boost or even mention the work of another doctor. "What?" one exclaimed when I senselessly babbled that one of his peers had taken me off orinase, a diabetic stand-off, "just because he read that the Federal Drug Administration questions it? Nonsense! Nurse, give him four a day." Another time I said to a treasured man of medicine, "Good news! Dr. Zilch wants me to walk around the hallways for exercise." I couldn't have hurt him more than if I had uncoiled the snake on his Hippocratic Oath's logo. "That's preposterous," he said. "Stay in bed."

A final question, "What did you like least about your care at the hospital?" That's easy: listening to visitors tell me how much worse off they were, when they had their trouble. That hurts a man's sullen pride in his own precious wounds.

GSA Chief Resigns

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has accepted the resignation of Arthur F. Sampson as head of the General Services Administration, the federal government's housekeeping agency.

In a letter Monday, Sampson said he had planned to remain in his post until late 1976 but that "circumstances are such" that he was making his departure effective Oct. 15.

The White House released a reply letter Thursday in which Ford accepted Sampson's resignation with praise for the administrator's "outstanding record of achievement."

Rumors of Sampson's intended resignation have persisted for weeks amid reports that he was under FBI investigation for alleged misconduct in office. The FBI denied those reports but acknowledged that the GSA is the subject of an inquiry.

Bridgeport, Conn., Mayor Nicholas A. Panuzio has been widely mentioned as Ford's probable choice as Sampson's replacement.

Sampson was appointed GSA administrator in 1973 by then President Richard M. Nixon after serving as its acting head for a year. His agency is responsible for the construction and operation of federal buildings and oversees billions of dollars in government contracts for goods and services.

Election Amendment Left By Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment providing for the tandem election of the governor and lieutenant governor was left in legislative limbo Friday as the General Assembly adjourned without completing action.

The resolution was snagged by an amendment on the House floor that could relieve the present lieutenant governor, Richard Celeste, of his job presiding over the Senate as early as next year.

The original resolution said the governor should assign the lieutenant governor duties beginning in 1979, but Rep. Michael G. Oxley, R-32 Lima, amended it to take effect as soon as the tandem plan is approved by the electorate.

That was acceptable to House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, and 59 other state representatives, but it was rejected by senators in a joint conference committee.

Fearful of the outcome, opponent's of the Oxley amendment decided not to return the conference report to the House floor.

Sponsors hope to place the resolution on next year's primary ballot. Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, held out hope that agreement could be reached in a fall session. The legislature adjourned its summer session Friday, but will return for at least one day next week, and then again on Sept. 10.

Current Ohio law requires that the governor and lieutenant governor must be elected independently. The state's two highest officers have been from different parties for the last four and a half years.

The resolution left undecided the question of an open primary for lieutenant governor, giving the legislature future authority to determine the mechanics of the joint balloting.

Many states already elect their governor and lieutenant governor as a unit, comparable to voting for president and vice president.

There was considerable opposition to the entire plan which passed the House with bare minimum three-fifths majority.

Rep. William Batchelder, R-93 Medina said lawmakers were being asked to assist "future power-hungry governors at the coronation of a crown prince."

Election Amendment Left By Assembly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A proposed constitutional amendment providing for the tandem election of the governor and lieutenant governor was left in legislative limbo Friday as the General Assembly adjourned without completing action.

The resolution was snagged by an amendment on the House floor that could relieve the present lieutenant governor, Richard Celeste, of his job presiding over the Senate as early as next year.

The original resolution said the governor should assign the lieutenant governor duties beginning in 1979, but Rep. Michael G. Oxley, R-32 Lima, amended it to take effect as soon as the tandem plan is approved by the legislature.

That was acceptable to House Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr., D-89 New Boston, and 59 other state representatives, but it was rejected by senators in a joint conference committee.

Fearful of the outcome, opponent's of the Oxley amendment decided not to return the conference report to the House floor.

Sponsors hope to place the resolution on next year's primary ballot. Rep. Harry J. Lehman, D-16 Shaker Heights, held out hope that agreement could be reached in a fall session. The legislature adjourned its summer session Friday, but will return for at least one day next week, and then again on Sept. 10.

Current Ohio law requires that the governor and lieutenant governor must be elected independently. The state's two highest officers have been from different parties for the last four and a half years.

The resolution left undecided the question of an open primary for lieutenant governor, giving the legislature future authority to determine the mechanics of the joint balloting.

Many states already elect their governor and lieutenant governor as a unit, comparable to voting for president and vice president.

There was considerable opposition to the entire plan which passed the House with bare minimum three-fifths majority.

Rep. William Batchelder, R-93 Medina said lawmakers were being asked to assist "future power-hungry governors at the coronation of a crown prince."

RESOLUTION NO. 75-75 ADOPTING THE BUDGET OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO FOR THE FISCAL YEAR BEGINNING JANUARY 1, 1976, AND SUBMITTING THE SAME TO THE COUNTY AUDITOR.

WHEREAS, said Budget has been made conveniently available to public inspection for at least ten (10) days by having at least two (2) copies thereof on file in the office of the City Auditor and the office of the Clerk of Council; and

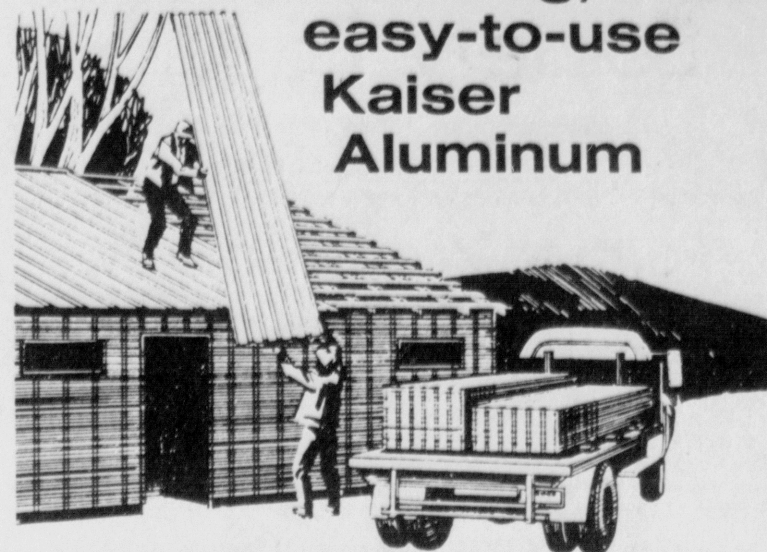

WHEREAS, the Council has held a public hearing on the said budget of which public notice was given by publication not less than ten (10) days previous to the date thereof; NOW THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, STATE OF OHIO:

SECTION I: That the budget of the City of Circleville, Ohio, for the fiscal year beginning January 1, 1976, theretofore prepared and submitted to this Council, copies of which have been and are on file in the office of the City Auditor and the Clerk of Council, be and it is hereby adopted as the official budget of the City of Circleville, Ohio, for the fiscal year beginning January 1, 1976.

SECTION II: That the Clerk of Council be, and he is hereby authorized and directed to certify a copy of said budget and a copy of this Resolution and transmit same to the Auditor of Pickaway County, Ohio.

Seek Return Of Petitions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans for Jobs and Progress, the group handling Gov. James Rhodes' effort to put four proposed bond issues on the November ballot, has urged people holding partially filled petitions to turn them in immediately.

"Our telephone calls indicate that there are thousands and thousands of signatures on paper, but that some people are reluctant to turn in partially filled petitions," said Keith McNamara, coordinator of the drive. "That doesn't matter," he said. "Signatures on partially filled petitions are as good as any others, and we need them now."

The group plans to file the petitions with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown next Tuesday. It needs 370,000 valid signatures to qualify the proposals for the ballot.

Seek Return
Of Petitions

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans for Jobs and Progress, the group handling Gov. James Rhodes' effort to put four proposed bond issues on the November ballot, has urged people holding partially filled petitions to turn them in immediately.

"Our telephone calls indicate that there are thousands and thousands of signatures on paper, but that some people are reluctant to turn in partially filled petitions," said Keith McNamara, coordinator of the drive.

"That doesn't matter," he said. "Signatures on partially filled petitions are as good as any others, and we need them now."

The group plans to file the petitions with Secretary of State Ted W. Brown next Tuesday. It needs 370,000 valid signatures to qualify the proposals for the ballot.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Wants Her 'EX' Sans Marriage

DEAR ABBY: Do you think it's possible for a divorced couple to resume a happy, close relationship without remarriage? This question has been haunting me for several months, but I hesitate to suggest it because I'm afraid that my conservative ex-husband would react negatively.

My "ex" and I are fairly sophisticated people in our 60s. We were divorced two years ago after a five-year marriage that didn't work out. (The second time around for both of us.) We went together for three years before we were married and got along beautifully, but for some reason we couldn't live together.

I am still very much in love with him, and I think he's still in love with me. We both love to travel, and I cannot think of a better traveling companion than my "ex".

I want very much to resume our relationship-but not as his wife. What are your views on the subject?
NAMELESS

DEAR NAMELESS: There are built-in factors in second marriages for people of your ages that could cause considerable conflict. (Family ties on both sides, money matters, old friends, old habits, your children and his children, etc.)

It would be a simple matter to find how he feels about a relationship sans marriage. Ask him. You have nothing to lose.

DEAR ABBY: A letter in your column dealing with how to punish a child appropriately prompts this letter.

When a child makes a commitment, he gives his word, and it's unfair of a parent to lay a punishment on the child that will necessitate his breaking his word.

For example: The night of the senior-class play, the father of one of the most important members of the cast phoned to say that his son could not be in the play as a punishment for something he had done. A hasty (and unfortunate) substitution was made. Was this fair to the rest of the cast?

Another incident: Our school has an outstanding girls' softball team. They had won three consecutive games, but on the night of the fourth and most crucial game, the star player didn't show up. A frantic call was made to her home. Guess what? Her mother was punishing her by refusing to let her play in that game!

Abby, please tell parents that there are ways to punish children that will not involve others. Deny them telephone or TV privileges, take the car away from them, get more work out of them around the house. But for heaven's sake, don't force them to break a commitment that will punish the innocent.

BALTIMORE MOM
DEAR MOM: Well said. Parents, are you listening?

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I bought a very expensive, king-sized bed. It squeaked, so we got rid of it and bought another one that was also expensive. After a while, this one squeaked, too.

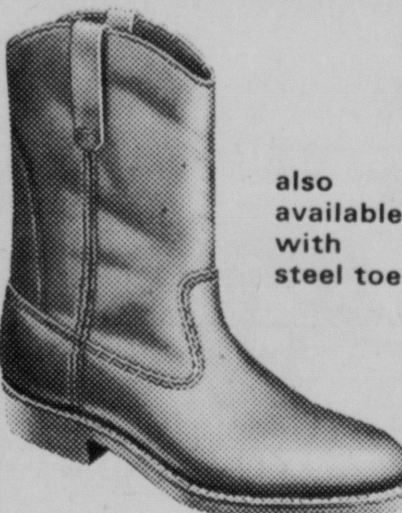

We can't afford to buy another one. Is there any way to put a stop to this? Please, no funny answers.

MRS. L.B.T.
DEAR MRS. T.: A "squeaking" bed is usually the result of the bed frame or headboard and not the mattress or box spring.

A little oil in the bed frame castor sockets usually corrects this. If not, most reliable mattress manufacturers are sympathetic to this type of complaint and will exchange the offending sleep set.

Beds are meant to be seen and not heard.

SECTION 2: That the plans, specifications, and the estimate of cost for the said improvement heretofore prepared by the Director of Public Service and placed on file with the Clerk of this Council be and the same hereby are approved.
SECTION 3: That the grade of said street after the said improvements have been completed shall be as shown on the said plans and profiles identified as the Atwater Avenue Improvement Project.
SECTION 4: That the entire cost of the said improvement (curb with gutter and sidewalk) less the cost of intersections shall be assessed upon the following described lots and lands, to wit: all lots and lands abutting and abutting upon said improvement, and said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefited by the said improvements. Said assessments shall be levied by the following method, to wit: by the front foot of the property abutting and abutting upon the improvement, and shall be paid when levied in fifteen (15) annual installments, with interest on unpaid installments at the same rate as is carried by the bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection thereof; provided, however, that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay the assessment in cash within thirty (30) days after the passage of the ordinance levying such assessments. The remainder of the cost of the said improvement, after the application of the assessments herein provided for shall be provided by the issuance of bonds as provided by law or from other funds available and appropriated for such purpose.

Two Ashville Area Boys Sentenced On Delinquency Charges

Two 14-year-old Route 1, Ashville boys headed the docket of cases last week in Juvenile Court. The two youngsters were charged with burglary and petit theft and were sentenced to the Ohio Youth Commission. Judge Guy G. Cline, however, suspended the Youth Commission sentences and placed both boys on probation for three years. They were also ordered to make restitution.

Another Route 1, Ashville boy also appeared before Judge Cline on delinquency charges during the week. The 17-year-old boy was charged with violation of probation and theft. The court sentenced him to the Ohio Youth Commission but ordered the sentence held for 90 days.

The court ordered the probation of an 18-year-old Circleville boy terminated with the juvenile authorities since the young man is now on probation from the Common Pleas Court.

An 11-year-old Route 1, Williamsport child was placed back with its mother after a hearing on the neglect of the child.

Two traffic cases were heard during the week. Randall D. Swyer, 17, 1585 Quinty Road, appeared on a citation issued by State Highway Patrolman R. L. Hollens charging him with speeding.

Swyer was fined $15 and had his license suspended for two months.

Judge Cline suspended $10 of the fine and modified the suspension order to allow Swyer to drive to work, school and traffic school during his suspension.

Richard A. Angles, 17, 280 Edwards Road, appeared also on a speeding violation. He was fined $10 and assessed the court costs.

The case charging Laura Pickett Wogan, 433 Abernathy Ave., with assault was dismissed last week.

In final action, the court dismissed three cases after the youths involved have served their probation sentences, terminated four cases with the Pickaway County Children's Services and transferred one speeding violation case to Franklin County, the home county of the youth involved.

1040 U.S. Individual Income Tax Return Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q) I started building a home last year and finished some of the construction on it in January, 1975. Can I add on two more rooms before moving into the home later this year and qualify for the house purchase credit?

(A) The Tax Reduction Act of 1975 provides that construction of a new residence must have started before March 26, 1975, in order to qualify for the credit. However, if a taxpayer is building a residence, only that part of the cost of construction properly allocable to work done after March 12, 1975, and before January 1, 1977, is subject to the credit.

This means that you may qualify for the credit, but only for the construction of the two rooms and any other construction since March 12. Of course, the new house must be your principal residence, and you must be the first occupant. The credit is equal to five per cent of the construction costs after March 12, subject to an over-all limit of $2,000. The credit may not exceed your tax liability.

(Q) I recently bought a house which I will rent to a family. Is the security deposit I will receive from my tenants considered taxable income?

(A) Security deposits received for the lessee's performance under the lease are not usually included in income when received. They are included in income when and to the extent they are appropriated by the lessor because of a default by the lessee. If an amount designated as a security deposit is to be applied as payment of rent for the last year of the lease, it is advance rent and must be reported when received.

(Q) Please explain the new personal exemption tax credit.

(A) Taxpayers filing their 1975 returns will be able to claim a credit of $30 against their tax liability for every personal or dependency exemption of $750 they take. The credit is not applicable to exemptions for blindness or old age.

Two Ashville Area Boys Sentenced On Delinquency Charges

Two 14-year-old Route 1, Ashville boys headed the docket of cases last week in Juvenile Court. The two youngsters were charged with burglary and petit theft and were sentenced to the Ohio Youth Commission. Judge Guy G. Cline, however, suspended the Youth Commission sentences and placed both boys on probation for three years. They were also ordered to make restitution.

Another Route 1, Ashville boy also appeared before Judge Cline on delinquency charges during the week. The 17-year-old boy was charged with violation of probation and theft. The court sentenced him to the Ohio Youth Commission but ordered the sentence held for 90 days.

The court ordered the probation of an 18-year-old Circleville boy terminated with the juvenile authorities since the young man is now on probation from the Common Pleas Court.

An 11-year-old Route 1, Williamsport child was placed back with its mother after a hearing on the neglect of the child.

Two traffic cases were heard during the week. Randall D. Swoyer, 17, 1585 Quilty Road, appeared on a citation issued by State Highway Patrolman R. L. Hollens charging him with speeding.

Swoyer was fined $15 and had his license suspended for two months.

Judge Cline suspended $10 of the fine and modified the suspension order to allow Swoyer to drive to work, school and traffic school during his suspension.

Richard A. Angles, 17, 280 Edwards Road, appeared also on a speeding violation. He was fined $10 and assessed the court costs.

The case charging Laura Pickett Wogan, 433 Abernathy Ave., with assault was dismissed last week.

In final action, the court dismissed three cases after the youths involved have served their probation sentences, terminated four cases with the Pickaway County Children's Services and transferred one speeding violation case to Franklin County, the home county of the youth involved.

DOUBLE-WINNER—Anna J. Stone, Route 3, was a double grand champion. She won the honor in the pie division for a French Coconut Pie, and in the cake class for a Blackberry Cake.

1040 U.S. Individual Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

(Q) I started building a home last year and finished some of the construction on it in January, 1975. Can I add on two more rooms before moving into the home later this year and qualify for the house purchase credit?

(A) The Tax Reduction Act of 1975 provides that construction of a new residence must have started before March 26, 1975, in order to qualify for the credit. However, if a taxpayer is building a residence, only that part of the cost of construction properly allocable to work done after March 12, 1975, and before January 1, 1977, is subject to the credit.

This means that you may qualify for the credit, but only for the construction of the two rooms and any other construction since March 12. Of course, the new house must be your principal residence, and you must be the first occupant. The credit is equal to five per cent of the construction costs after March 12, subject to an over-all limit of $2,000. The credit may not exceed your tax liability.

(Q) I recently bought a house which I will rent to a family. Is the security deposit I will receive from my tenants considered taxable income?

(A) Security deposits received for the lessee's performance under the lease are not usually included in income when received. They are included in income when and to the extent they are appropriated by the lessor because of a default by the lessee. If an amount designated as a security deposit is to be applied as payment of rent for the last year of the lease, it is advance rent and must be reported when received.

(Q) Please explain the new personal exemption tax credit.

(A) Taxpayers filing their 1975 returns will be able to claim a credit of $30 against their tax liability for every personal or dependency exemption of $750 they take. The credit is not applicable to exemptions for blindness or old age.

Dodgers Top Reds In 10, 5-3

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ron Cey said the Los Angeles Dodgers still have a lot to prove.

So he went out and proved it, at least momentarily, by slugging a two-run home run in the bottom of the 10th inning to lift the Dodgers to a most improbable 5-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds Friday night before 50,331 fans in Dodger Stadium.

But to get the win the Dodgers first had to overcome a 3-0 lead in the sixth inning which included Johnny Bench's 22nd home run, five hits by Pete Rose, two near-misses at the plate with Lee Lacy gunning down two runners and a series of inspections of starting pitcher Don Sutton by the umpires who were egged on by Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson.

"There were spots, marks, something on the ball," Anderson explained.

He insisted the umpires check the baseballs. That failing, they checked Sutton himself, looking at his cap, his glove and his belt.

"They looked everywhere but my underwear," Sutton said, sarcastically. "I'm really surprised Sparky is doing this. After all, he is 13½ games ahead and he's the winningest manager. So why all the harassment? Heck, he's liable to forget to make a pitching change worrying about what I'm doing."

For all the troubles, the clubs were scoreless through five innings, Sutton battling Cincinnati's Jack Billingham.

But in the sixth Rose's second double of the game, followed by a two-out single by Cesar Geronimo, broke the deadlock. Bench then followed with a two-run homer into the leftfield bullpen and, quick as that, Cincinnati led 3-0.

Successive singles by John Hale, Steve Garvey and Willie Crawford got the Dodgers' first run in the seventh and the second scored when Steve Yeager grounded out.

The Dodgers tied it an inning later when they loaded the bases with two out and Cey beat out his slow roller to Rose who made a futile throw while flat on the seat of his pants.

But the Dodgers so weakened themselves defensively that now they had Lacy, an infielder, in left field and Powell behind the plate.

Lacy immediately misplayed a liner by Bench that went for a single. Bench then going to second when one of Marshall's pitches got away from Powell. The two swiftly redeemed themselves when Lacy fielded George Foster's base hit to left one out later, easily nailing Bench at the plate.

The Dodgers then loaded the bases in the bottom of the ninth with one out on singles by Rick Auerbach and Dave Lopes and a walk to Lacy. Tom Paciorek then hit a short fly to center, Geronimo make a shoestring catch and Auerbach was doubled off third. After Lacy gunned down Darrel Chaney at the plate in the top of the 10th, the Dodgers finally won in the bottom of the 10th on Cey's 14th home run.

"I enjoy playing the Reds more than any other club," Cey said. "They're probably the best club in baseball and they're also the team we have to catch. We've still got some things to prove and at least this is a start."

Doug Rau, 9-8, was to oppose the Reds' Tom Carroll, 3-1, tonight.

In San Francisco, a mostly singles hitter was looking for a single: he homered. In Pittsburgh, a home-run hitter was looking for a run batted in: he bunted.

It must be the heat.

At Candlestick Park, where there's a breeze to cool off the August temperatures, the Giants' Chris Speier was "just trying to get on base" when he faced Houston's J.R. Richard in the ninth inning of a 1-1 game. "I wasn't thinking home run."

Well, even if he wasn't thinking about it, Speier hit a homer. His ninth round tripper of the season lifted San Francisco to a 3-2 triumph over the Astros moments after Giants teammate Willie Montanez had homered to tie the game.

In the 95-degree heat at Pittsburgh, the Mets' Dave Kingman—a hot batter who hit 13 home runs in July—laid down a perfect bunt to score a run in New York's muggy 4-2 victory over the Pirates.

"He did it on his own. It was good thinking on his part," said Mets Manager Yogi Berra.

"More than anything else, a bunt like that keeps a defense honest," said Kingman.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Diego blanked Atlanta 4-0 and Los Angeles topped Cincinnati 5-4.

PHILS 8-4, Expos 6-6

Gary Carter's tie-breaking home run in the fifth inning of the nightcap salvaged a split for Montreal after Philadelphia had won the first game on a 10inning throwing error by Jose Morales.

Carter, like Speier, just wanted to get on base. "I'm just trying to make contact," he said. "I'm not really thinking home run."

Jim Dwyer and Mike Jorgensen crashed two-run homers in the first inning of the nightcap for Montreal. But the Phils came back in the second on Mike Schmidt's 20th homer and tied it with three in the fourth, two scoring on Schmidt's double.

Schmidt drew a leadoff walk from Dale Murray, 4-5, in the 10th inning of the first game and he scored when Morales threw Johnny Oates' bunt single into right field as the winning run scored.

Padres 4, Braves 0

San Diego left-hander Randy Jones pitched a three-hitter for his third victory in a row, 14th triumph and sixth shutout of the season in besting Phil Niekro.

Three Padres runs in the eighth put the game away. Jones, 26, has allowed one run in his last 25 innings.

Cardinals 9, Cubs 4

Bob Gibson and Lou Brock combined their talents Friday to lead St. Louis past Chicago. Gibson, demoted to the bullpen, put down a four-run Cubs uprising in the sixth inning and blanked the Cubs for 32-3 innings to post his first save of the season. He scattered four singles and struck out three.

Brock, who has a severe ankle injury because of stretched tendons, pinch hit and delivered a bases-loaded double in a clinching, four-run eighth inning.

Boston Red Sox Chop Tigers, 8-7

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

"I was only following orders," said Jim Rice. But he wasn't trying to avoid taking the blame. It was the credit he was shunning.

Rice's bunt started down the third base line but ended up in left field. And Carl Yastrzemski, who had started out on second base, wound up crossing the plate with the ninth-inning run that gave the Boston Red Sox a frantic 8-7 victory over the Detroit Tigers Friday night.

In the rest of the American League, Texas trimmed California 2-1, New York edged Cleveland 5-4, Kansas City blanked Oakland 6-0, Chicago beat Minnesota 5-1 in a rainshortened 5 1-3 innings and Baltimore swept a twin-night doubleheader from Milwaukee 6-4 and 3-1.

But in the bottom of the ninth, with the Tigers ahead 7-6, Denny Doyle beat out a buntsingle to shortstop and continued to second on Gene Michael's wild throw. Yastrzemski then singled Doyle home and moved to second on what turned out to be a pivotal throw to the plate by right fielder Billy Baldwin.

After Fred Lynn was walked intentionally, Rice bunted, surprising everyone in Fenway Park. Rookie pitcher Gene Pentz pounced on the ball. He had no chance to get an out anywhere—but he tried anyway.

He fired to third, sort of. The ball sailed wide of the base and Yaz steamed home with the winning run.

"I'm not a bunter, but I did as I was ordered," said Rice. "It's only the second time I've ever bunted as a pro...I was a little surprised when I got the sign and just tried to make sure I put the ball on the ground."

Rangers 2, Angels 1

Tom Grieve and Roy Howell hit consecutive homers in the seventh inning and Gaylord Perry hurled a two-hitter to give the Rangers their victory over California.

Right-hander Ed Figueroa had blanked Texas on four hits before Grieve tied the game with a leadoff homer, his eighth of the season. Howell's fifth homer came on Figueroa's next pitch.

Yanks 5, Indians 4

Sandy Alomar's sixth-inning triple gave the Yanks their winning run and enabled Catfish Hunter to chalk up his 14th victory with relief help.

Royals 6, A's 0

Steve Busby shackled Oakland on six hits and George Brett hit a two-run homer to highlight a four-run seventh inning for the Royals, who edged within nine games of the firstplace A's in the West.

White Sox 5, Twins 1

Chicago erupted for five runs in the third inning, two on Pat Kelly's homer and three more on Ken Henderson's clout, then the skies erupted and Minnesota's "Beer Night" twinbill wound up as a 51-3 inning single game.

Orioles 6-3, Brewers 4-1

Tommy Davis' grand-slam homer, his second in five games against Milwaukee, gave the Orioles their first-game triumph. In the finale, Jim Northrup's tie-breaking single highlighted a two-run burst that enabled Baltimore to creep to within 8½ games of first-place Boston in the East.

Roosevelt Brown

In Hall Of Fame

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Roosevelt Brown moved alongside Jim Parker today as the only pure offensive linemen in the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

And the induction of the former New York Giants great dispelled one of his longstanding theories: That offensive linemen are unappreciated.

"When the newspapers say somebody ran 50 yards for a touchdown and they don't tell who made the block, it hurts a little," said the Morgan State University product, one of four 1975 enshrinees.

The other former playing great inducted today on the steps of the game's shrine were George Connor of the Chicago Bears, Dante Lavelli of the Cleveland Browns and Lenny Moore of the Baltimore Colts.

Brown Said Like Paul 'Bear' Bryant

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—Cincinnati Bengals Coach Paul Brown has been called a lot of things in his time and compared to a lot of people, but rookie safety Ricky Davis may have added a new one.

Davis, an eighth-round draft pick from Alabama, said Brown and his college coach, Paul "Bear" Bryant, "remind me a lot of each other."

"Coach Bryant and Coach Brown both see the little things," Davis said. "Coach Bryant always says small things win football games. They're a lot alike."

Bengal coaches can't mind the comparison as they note the little things Alabama teaches in Davis' skills, like the way he runs away from a punt during drills when he realizes he won't be able to field it.

The 22-year-old rookie, fighting for a spot on the squad in the third week of practice at Wilmington College, should get a chance to display his abilities Saturday when the Bengals take on Washington in the Hall of Fame game at Canton.

With starting defensive backs Lamar Parrish and Lyle Blackwood out with hamstring pulls, it appeared earlier in the week Davis would be the only rookie to start the game, but Blackwood seems to have recovered.

Brown said Blackwood will "play at least the first quarter. I think then we'll send Davis in there."

Davis said in pro ball he has to "worry a lot more about the pass than I did in college. And they're not only big, but the speed of the receivers, the tight ends and everyone is the biggest difference."

PPG 18

Jim's Super Duper 6

PPG tallied 14 runs in the first two innings and coasted to victory behind the pitching of Bev Smith. Cheryl Spangler was on the mound for Super Duper.

Debbly Davis and Judy Cordle paced the winners with five hits each, Melissa Allison, Maria Theis and Bev Smith each rapped four, Pam Rogers, Jamie Strawser and Diane Martin each had three hits, Viv Davis rapped two while Amy McCain and Laura Theis both slammed one hit.

Christine Imler, Cheryl Spangler and Debbie Strawser all had three hits, Theresa Lanman, Theresa Dayhoff and Debbie Grewell each slammed three, Marsha Cockerham and Tami Hughes both rapped two while Debbie Smith and Annette Strawser had one hit apiece.

But he has been preparing himself for the challenge. "I've been working out ever since the draft, running and lifting weights," he said. "I stayed in Tuscaloosa after I graduated and kept at it."

The Bessemer, Ala., native admits to a little homesickness in his battle for a Bengal job, but calls home every week.

"My folks are coming up for the game at Canton," he said, "so that'll be good."

CAP Team Holds Awards Picnic

Parents and managers of the Circle Auto Parts Mosquito League team held a picnic and award night for the team members.

Eddie Sims was named the team's most valuable player and baseball bats were presented to Paul Allen, Tim Campbell and Tim Chelikowsky for outstanding baseball sticker sales.

Manager Dave Thompson accepted the trophy from their sponsor, Circle Auto Parts, and received numerous gifts from members of his team.

Circle Auto Parts presented each team member with an official Little League baseball and furnished soft drinks for the picnic. Following the dinner there was a softball game between the boys and their fathers.

Circle Auto Parts finished in second place in the Black Division with a record of 8-5.

'Pitiful' Steelers Top All-Stars, 21-14

CHICAGO (AP) — "We won the game despite a pitiful performance," said Terry Bradshaw, describing the Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers' come-from-behind victory over the College All-Stars.

His coach, teammates and most of the 54,562 crowd in Soldier Field on Chicago's lakefront agreed.

In fact, Joe Greene, the All Pro tackle who leads Pittsburgh's defense, echoed, "I feel like I got the hell kicked out of me. I was so bad..."

The fierce young All-Stars who throttled the Pittsburgh offense for three quarters and prevented Greene and Co. from reaching their quarterback most of the game left the Steelers scowling.

"Don't want no more of that," muttered running back Frenchy Fuqua as he slowly made his way to the locker room.

And Coach Chuck Noll found solace in the fact that, "We were able to win it in the fourth quarter after getting our butts kicked off. If their whole game plan was to physically knock our heads off, it was successful," he added.

The Steelers did, however, win the 41st renewal of the AllStar game by a 21-14 count, putting it away on a pair of fourthquarter touchdown heaves by Joe Gilliam who replaced Bradshaw in the final period.

"We played well, but we made the mistakes an All-Star team is going to make," said Coach John McKay of Southern California who two years ago coached an All-Star team that fought off Miami for three periods before falling 14-3. "We played with great pride, but it was only an All-Star game," he added.

But it was Coach John McKay's Stars who provided the game's most exciting plays. On their first possession, California's Steve Bartkowski put together a 48-yard pass play to Larry Burton and two plays later hit Harvard's Pat McNally for the first touchdown, a play on which McNally suffered a fractured leg when he was tackled at the goal line by Mike Wagner of Pittsburgh.

The Steelers caught up in the second period on an 87-yard drive that used up more than nine minutes and climaxed in a Bradshaw flip for two yards to tight end Randy Grossman.

Billy Martin Next Yankee Manager

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Martin will be managing his fourth major league team in seven years and it will be with his first team and first love—the New York Yankees.

The Associated Press learned Friday night that the fiery Martin will be back in Yankee pinstripes, replacing Bill Virdon, who had a contract running through 1976. The announcement of the change was expected to come today, probably before the Yankees' annual Old Timers Game.

The New York Daily News, which carried a similar story in its Saturday editions, said the agreement between Martin and the Yankees was sealed earlier this week in a meeting in Denver, where the controversial former Yankee second baseman had gone to make a speech.

Yankee General Manager Gabe Paul returned to New York from a business trip Friday night and, when asked about the reports, would only say, "I can't comment on that."

However, Brad Corbett, owner of the Rangers and the man who fired Martin two weeks ago, said Friday night that Paul had called him earlier in the day and asked for permission to talk with Martin about a job.

Martin's return to New York brings him full circle in a controversial career, which started with the Yankees in 1950, moved him to Kansas City in 1957 before stops in Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Milwaukee and Minnesota, his final team as a player, in 1961.

Martin, 47, who began his major league managerial career in 1969 with Minnesota, was fired by the Twins, Detroit and Texas, all because he got into disputes with management. In each case, he had taken a team and made it a contender only to lose his job

The Dodgers tied it an inning later when they loaded the bases with two out and Cey beat out his slow roller to Rose who made a futile throw while flat on the seat of his pants.

But the Dodgers so weakened themselves defensively that now they had Lacy, an infielder, in left field and Powell behind the plate.

Lacy immediately misplayed a liner by Bench that went for a single, Bench then going to second when one of Marshall's pitches got away from Powell. The two swiftly redeemed themselves when Lacy fielded George Foster's base hit to left one out later, easily nailing Bench at the plate.

The Dodgers then loaded the bases in the bottom of the ninth with one out on singles by Rick Auerbach and Dave Lopes and a walk to Lacy. Tom Paciorek then hit a short fly to center, Geronimo make a shoestring catch and Auerbach was doubled off third.

After Lacy gunned down Darrel Chaney at the plate in the top of the 10th, the Dodgers finally won it in the bottom of the 10th on Cey's 14th home run.

"I enjoy playing the Reds more than any other club," Cey said. "They're probably the best club in baseball and they're also the team we have to catch. We've still got some things to prove and at least this is a start."

Doug Rau, 9-8, was to oppose the Reds' Tom Carroll, 3-1, tonight.

In San Francisco, a mostly singles hitter was looking for a single: he homered. In Pittsburgh, a home-run hitter was looking for a run batted in: he bunted.

It must be the heat.

At Candlestick Park, where there's a breeze to cool off the August temperatures, the Giants' Chris Speier was "just trying to get on base" when he faced Houston's J.R. Richard in the ninth inning of a 1-1 game. "I wasn't thinking home run."

Well, even if he wasn't thinking about it, Speier hit a homer. His ninth round tripper of the season lifted San Francisco to a 3-2 triumph over the Astros moments after Giants teammate Willie Montanez had homered to tie the game.

In the 95-degree heat at Pittsburgh, the Mets' Dave Kingman—a hot batter who hit 13 home runs in July—laid down a perfect bunt to score a run in New York's muggy 4-2 victory over the Pirates.

"He did it on his own. It was good thinking on his part," said Mets Manager Yogi Berra.

"More than anything else, a bunt like that keeps a defense honest," said Kingman.

Elsewhere in the National League, San Diego blanked Atlanta 4-0 and Los Angeles topped Cincinnati 5-4.

PHILS 8-4, Expos 6-6
Gary Carter's tie-breaking home run in the fifth inning of the nightcap salvaged a split for Montreal after Philadelphia had won the first game on a 10inning throwing error by Jose Morales.

Carter, like Speier, just wanted to get on base. "I'm just trying to make contact," he said. "I'm not really thinking home run."

Jim Dwyer and Mike Jorgensen crashed two-run homers in the first inning of the nightcap for Montreal. But the Phils came back in the second on Mike Schmidt's 20th homer and tied it with three in the fourth, two scoring on Schmidt's double.

Schmidt drew a leadoff walk from Dale Murray, 4-5, in the 10th inning of the first game and he scored when Morales threw Johnny Oates' bunt single into right field as the winning run scored.

Padres 4, Braves 0
San Diego left-hander Randy Jones pitched a three-hitter for his third victory in a row, 14th triumph and sixth shutout of the season in besting Phil Niekro.

Three Padres runs in the eighth put the game away. Jones, 26, has allowed one run in his last 25 innings.

Cardinals 9, Cubs 4
Bob Gibson and Lou Brock combined their talents Friday to lead St. Louis past Chicago. Gibson, demoted to the bullpen, put down a four-run Cubs uprising in the sixth inning and blanked the Cubs for 32-3 innings to post his first save of the season. He scattered four singles and struck out three.

Brock, who has a severe ankle injury because of stretched tendons, pinch hit and delivered a bases-loaded double in a clinching, four-run eighth inning.

Boston Red Sox Chop Tigers, 8-7

By BRUCE LOWITT
AP Sports Writer

"I was only following orders," said Jim Rice. But he wasn't trying to avoid taking the blame. It was the credit he was shunning.

Rice's bunt started down the third base line but ended up in left field. And Carl Yastrzemski, who had started out on second base, wound up crossing the plate with the ninth-inning run that gave the Boston Red Sox a frantic 8-7 victory over the Detroit Tigers Friday night.

In the rest of the American League, Texas trimmed California 2-1, New York edged Cleveland 5-4, Kansas City blanked Oakland 6-0, Chicago beat Minnesota 5-1 in a rainshortened 5-1-3 innings and Baltimore swept a twinight doubleheader from Milwaukee 6-4 and 3-1.

But in the bottom of the ninth, with the Tigers ahead 7-6, Denny Doyle beat out a buntsingle to shortstop and continued to second on Gene Michael's wild throw. Yastrzemski then singled Doyle home and moved to second on what turned out to be a pivotal throw to the plate by right fielder Billy Baldwin.

After Fred Lynn was walked intentionally, Rice bunted, surprising everyone in Fenway Park. Rookie pitcher Gene Pentz pounced on the ball. He had no chance to get an out anywhere—but he tried anyway.

He fired to third, sort of. The ball sailed wide of the base and Yaz steamed home with the winning run. "I'm not a bunter, but I did as I was ordered," said Rice. "It's only the second time I've ever bunted as a pro...I was a little surprised when I got the sign and just tried to make sure I put the ball on the ground."

Rangers 2, Angels 1
Tom Grieve and Roy Howell hit consecutive homers in the seventh inning and Gaylord Perry hurled a two-hitter to give the Rangers their victory over California.

Right-hander Ed Figueroa had blanked Texas on four hits before Grieve tied the game with a leadoff homer, his eighth of the season. Howell's fifth homer came on Figueroa's next pitch.

Yanks 5, Indians 4
Sandy Alomar's sixth-inning triple gave the Yanks their winning run and enabled Catfish Hunter to chalk up his 14th victory with relief help.

Royals 6, A's 0
Steve Busby shackled Oakland on six hits and George Brett hit a two-run homer to highlight a four-run seventh inning for the Royals, who edged within nine games of the firstplace A's in the West.

White Sox 5, Twins 1
Chicago erupted for five runs in the third inning, two on Pat Kelly's homer and three more on Ken Henderson's clout, then the skies erupted and Minnesota's "Beer Night" twinbill wound up as a 51-3 inning single game.

Orioles 6-3, Brewers 4-1
Tommy Davis' grand-slam homer, his second in five games against Milwaukee, gave the Orioles their first-game triumph. In the finale, Jim Northrup's tie-breaking single highlighted a two-run burst that enabled Baltimore to creep to within 8½ games of first-place Boston in the East.

Roosevelt Brown In Hall Of Fame

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Roosevelt Brown moved alongside Jim Parker today as the only pure offensive linemen in the Pro Football Hall of Fame.

And the induction of the former New York Giants great dispelled one of his longstanding theories: That offensive linemen are unappreciated.

"When the newspapers say somebody ran 50 yards for a touchdown and they don't tell who made the block, it hurts a little," said the Morgan State University product, one of four 1975 enshrinees.

The other former playing great inducted today on the steps of the game's shrine were George Connor of the Chicago Bears, Dante Lavelli of the Cleveland Browns and Lenny Moore of the Baltimore Colts.

'Pitiful' Steelers Top All-Stars, 21-14

CHICAGO (AP) — "We won the game despite a pitiful performance," said Terry Bradshaw, describing the Super Bowl champion Pittsburgh Steelers' come-from-behind victory over the College All-Stars.

His coach, teammates and most of the 54,562 crowd in Soldier Field on Chicago's lakefront agreed.

In fact, Joe Greene, the All Pro tackle who leads Pittsburgh's defense, echoed, "I feel like I got the hell kicked out of me. I was so bad..."

The fierce young All-Stars who throttled the Pittsburgh offense for three quarters and prevented Greene and Co. from reaching their quarterback most of the game left the Steelers scowling.

"Don't want no more of that," muttered running back Frenchy Fuqua as he slowly made his way to the locker room.

And Coach Chuck Noll found solace in the fact that, "We were able to win it in the fourth quarter after getting our butts kicked off. If their whole game plan was to physically knock our heads off, it was successful," he added.

The Steelers did, however, win the 41st renewal of the AllStar game by a 21-14 count, putting it away on a pair of fourthquarter touchdown heaves by Joe Gilliam who replaced Bradshaw in the final period.

"We played well, but we made the mistakes an All-Star team is going to make," said Coach John McKay of Southern California who two years ago coached an All-Star team that fought off Miami for three periods before falling 14-3. "We played with great pride, but it was only an All-Star game," he added.

But it was Coach John McKay's Stars who provided the game's most exciting plays. On their first possession, California's Steve Bartkowski put together a 48-yard pass play to Larry Burton and two plays later hit Harvard's Pat McNally for the first touchdown, a play on which McNally suffered a fractured leg when he was tackled at the goal line by Mike Wagner of Pittsburgh.

The Steelers caught up in the second period on an 87-yard drive that used up more than nine minutes and climaxed in a Bradshaw flip for two yards to tight end Randy Grossman.

Billy Martin Next Yankee Manager

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Martin will be managing his fourth major league team in seven years and it will be with his first team and first love—the New York Yankees.

The Associated Press learned Friday night that the fiery Martin will be back in Yankee pinstripes, replacing Bill Virdon, who had a contract running through 1976. The announcement of the change was expected to come today, probably before the Yankees' annual Old Timers Game.

The New York Daily News, which carried a similar story in its Saturday editions, said the agreement between Martin and the Yankees was sealed earlier this week in a meeting in Denver, where the controversial former Yankee second baseman had gone to make a speech.

Yankee General Manager Gabe Paul returned to New York from a business trip Friday night and, when asked about the reports, would only say, "I can't comment on that."

However, Brad Corbett, owner of the Rangers and the man who fired Martin two weeks ago, said Friday night that Paul had called him earlier in the day and asked for permission to talk with Martin about a job.

Martin's return to New York brings him full circle in a controversial career, which started with the Yankees in 1950, moved him to Kansas City in 1957 before stops in Detroit, Cleveland, Cincinnati, Milwaukee and Minnesota, his final team as a player, in 1961.

Martin, 47, who began his major league managerial career in 1969 with Minnesota, was fired by the Twins, Detroit and Texas, all because he got into disputes with management. In each case, he had taken a team and made it a contender only to lose his job

Jane Cole hurled the win that gave the Fire Department the league championship with a record of 12-2. She also paced the batting attack with a home run and two other hits.

Nancy Archer, Julie Schneider, Mary K. Marshall, Lori Bauer and Kathy Eposito all had two hits for the winners while Tammy Merrill, Mary Pat Sberna, Kathy Flynn, Terri Ballou and Serena Clark each rapped one hit.

Mary Wyatt, Elisa Frosini, Bonnie Riffle and Trama Rase each rapped two hits while Mona Cupp, Chris Frosini, Kimberly Wolf, K. Farmer, D. Pennington, Teresa Riffle, Chris Fee and Jeannie Heeter each smashed one hit.

Brown Said Like Paul 'Bear' Bryant

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)— Cincinnati Bengals Coach Paul Brown has been called a lot of things in his time and compared to a lot of people, but rookie safety Ricky Davis may have added a new one.

Davis, an eighth-round draft pick from Alabama, said Brown and his college coach, Paul "Bear" Bryant, "remind me a lot of each other."

"Coach Bryant and Coach Brown both see the little things," Davis said. "Coach Bryant always says small things win football games. They're a lot alike."

Bengal coaches can't mind the comparison as they note the little things Alabama teaches in Davis' skills, like the way he runs away from a punt during drills when he realizes he won't be able to field it.

The 22-year-old rookie, fighting for a spot on the squad in the third week of practice at Wilmington College, should get a chance to display his abilities Saturday when the Bengals take on Washington in the Hall of Fame game at Canton.

With starting defensive backs Lamar Parrish and Lyle Blackwood out with hamstring pulls, it appeared earlier in the week Davis would be the only rookie to start the game, but Blackwood seems to have recovered.

Brown said Blackwood will "play at least the first quarter. I think then we'll send Davis in there."

Davis said in pro ball he has to "worry a lot more about the pass than I did in college. And they're not only big, but the speed of the receivers, the tight ends and everyone is the biggest difference."

PPG 18

Jim's Super Duper 6
PPG tallied 14 runs in the first two innings and coasted to victory behind the pitching of Bev Smith. Cheryl Spangler was on the mound for Super Duper.

Debbie Davis and Judy Cordle paced the winners with five hits each, Melissa Allison, Maria Theis and Bev Smith each rapped four, Pam Rogers, Jamie Strawser and Diane Martin each had three hits, Viv Davis rapped two while Amy McCain and Laura Theis both slammed one hit.

Christine Imler, Cheryl Spangler and Debbie Strawser all had three hits, Theresa Lanman, Theresa Dayhoff and Debbie Grewell each slammed three, Marsha Cockerham and Tami Hughes both rapped two while Debbie Smith and Annette Strawser had one hit apiece.

But he has been preparing himself for the challenge. "I've been working out ever since the draft, running and lifting weights," he said. "I stayed in Tuscaloosa after I graduated and kept at it."

The Bessemer, Ala., native admits to a little homesickness in his battle for a Bengal job, but calls home every week.

"My folks are coming up for the game at Canton," he said, "so that'll be good."

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You may be caught in a fire of cross-purpose. Refuse to be dismayed: find out where, how you stand. Then ACT — but discreetly.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A good period for branching out into new fields if your regular activities allow you the time. On the personal side: romance and travel favored.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Where you are not certain of your course, take time to gather more facts. Be sure you are not following "blind leads" or ill-informed persons.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Fine cooperation from others indicated; also the possibility of an interesting business offer. Once you have checked the latter's poten-

Scott Sees Good Year For Browns

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Cornerback Clarence Scott says he is "getting my timing down" and looks for a good year for himself and the Cleveland Browns.

A good year for Scott, who has gained a reputation as one of the better ball hawks in the National Football League, could mean a bad time for some opposing quarterbacks.

Scott looked sharp in Thursday's abbreviated workout at the Browns' training camp at Kent State University, grabbing off two interceptions in a one-on-one drill. He said his timing was better and "I'm getting closer to the ball now."

Scott led the Browns in 1973 with five interceptions and was picked for the American Conference All-Star team. Last year his total dropped to four, and the Browns say this mainly was because opposing quarterbacks developed such a healthy respect for Scott that they rarely threw in his area.

Top ball hawk for the Browns last year with eight was Thom Darden. Scott calls him "one of the finest safeties in the game."

Scott, who was defensive captain last year, said he thinks the rugged training program instituted by new Head Coach Forrest Gregg "is going to pay off."

tials, act accordingly.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Be prepared to withstand opposition, unexpected disturbances. You may not only learn by both, but may be able to settle matters in such a way as to increase prestige.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You may have to revise some plans now. Others may assist somewhat but, in general, you must work out your own alterations. Be prepared for the unexpected.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): A day which calls for careful discrimination. Don't waste time on nonessentials while you neglect more vital matters. You may get some ideas from others now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): A good day for making important decisions, but weigh them well! Move forward only after careful and deliberate forethought. Avoid impulsiveness in speech, too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Look for some changing situations. Be alert, ready to take quick action, and be guided by procedures which have proved successful in the past.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Study results of previous actions. If everything did not turn out as planned, profit by experience. Improve where you can.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A highly flexible attitude will be needed to deal with the various types of persons you meet now. But listen quietly to all, analyze — and make up your OWN mind.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Neptune influences are not too helpful, but don't let this deter you from trying for A-1 achievement. No good effort is ever lost.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly imaginative and articulate in expressing yourself — whether orally, in writing or on canvas — for you are an artist at heart and, even though you do not take up painting or some other form of creativity as a career, you most likely will, as a hobby. You would make an excellent reporter; can teach, preach or sell — for your magnetism makes you convincing always. You can follow others ably but prefer to lead. Here, however, you must curb over-aggressiveness, a tendency to domineer. Birthdate of: Rupert Brooke, Eng. poet; Tony Bennett, singer.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC News, which obviously believes it's high time for another look at the burning issue of marijuana, has made a pretty interesting TV study of it and how much America is going to pot.

Called "Mary Jane Grows Up: Marijuana in the '70s," this one-hour special airs Sunday night and inspects in a sprightly, informative way the medical, social and legal aspects of smoking the devil weed nowadays.

The tour guide is Jack Perkins, a Los Angeles-based newsman who goes about his labors with occasional flashes of whimsy, such as appearing early in the show sitting relaxed with a marijuana cigarette in hand.

"There are an estimated 30 million criminals at large in the United States," he says. "Their crime — possession and use of marijuana."

"I would make it 30 million and one if I were to smoke this marijuana joint in 49 of the 50 states. As it is, I'm in the 50th, Alaska, where I could smoke in the privacy of this home if I wanted to."

He goes on to note that state's Supreme Court recently ruled it is an invasion of privacy "to arrest anyone for possession or use of marijuana in private."

Then it's off for reports on changing attitudes toward pot smoking, with notations that such no longer is strictly the province of the young, longhaired citizens of this country.

A housewife in her 50s admits she smokes pot. So does a fortyish lawyer, who says, "I had some pot earlier today before I went down to court." (Methinks his shingle may be in jeopardy after Sunday.)

There also are looks at the dark side of the weed, brief interviews with young adults on bad effects they or those they know have suffered, and a chilling talk with a girl who admits she first lit up at 11.

Sprinkled throughout the show are reports from no less than eight medical centers, mostly on whether pot smoking is harmful, but also how severely it affects driving and how it might be detected by police in a new test devised by some UCLA scientists.

Unless times have really changed, I suspect a few crisp new subpoenas will be issued after this show. But its point is to study how much times have changed, and it does a solid, bang-up job of it.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): You may be caught in a fire of cross-purpose. Refuse to be dismayed: find out where, how you stand. Then ACT — but discreetly.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): A good period for branching out into new fields if your regular activities allow you the time. On the personal side: romance and travel favored.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Where you are not certain of your course, take time to gather more facts. Be sure you are not following "blind leads" or ill-informed persons.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Fine cooperation from others indicated; also the possibility of an interesting business offer. Once you have checked the latter's potentials, act accordingly.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Be prepared to withstand opposition, unexpected disturbances. You may not only learn by both, but may be able to settle matters in such a way as to increase prestige.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): You may have to revise some plans now. Others may assist somewhat but, in general, you must work out your own alterations. Be prepared for the unexpected.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): A day which calls for careful discrimination. Don't waste time on nonessentials while you neglect more vital matters. You may get some ideas from others now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): A good day for making important decisions, but weigh them well! Move forward only after careful and deliberate forethought. Avoid impulsiveness in speech, too.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Look for some changing situations. Be alert, ready to take quick action, and be guided by procedures which have proved successful in the past.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Study results of previous actions. If everything did not turn out as planned, profit by experience. Improve where you can.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): A highly flexible attitude will be needed to deal with the various types of persons you meet now. But listen quietly to all, analyze — and make up your OWN mind.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Neptune influences are not too helpful, but don't let this deter you from trying for A-1 achievement. No good effort is ever lost.

Scott Sees Good Year For Browns

KENT, Ohio (AP) — Cornerback Clarence Scott says he is "getting my timing down" and looks for a good year for himself and the Cleveland Browns.

A good year for Scott, who has gained a reputation as one of the better ball hawks in the National Football League, could mean a bad time for some opposing quarterbacks. Scott looked sharp in Thursday's abbreviated workout at Kent State University, grabbing off two interceptions in a one-on-one drill. He said his timing was better and "I'm getting closer to the ball now."

Scott led the Browns in 1973 with five interceptions and was picked for the American Conference All-Star team. Last year his total dropped to four, and the Browns say this mainly was because opposing quarterbacks developed such a healthy respect for Scott that they rarely threw in his area.

Top ball hawk for the Browns last year with eight was Thom Darden. Scott calls him "one of the finest safeties in the game."

Scott, who was defensive captain last year, said he thinks the rugged training program instituted by new Head Coach Forrest Gregg "is going to pay off."
